SECTION B

51. Read the passage below carefully and then in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

Seasons really determine all people's activities especially farmers. A season is a period of time in the year when some weather conditions are experienced. These seasons usually last for three to four months in a year.

In Uganda, there are only two seasons in a complete year. These are the wet and dry seasons. The wet season has heavy rains while the dry season has very low rainfall.

During the wet season, farmers plant seeds and crops. Weeding of crops is also done in the wet season. This is because the amount of water in the soils encourages the rapid growth of weeds. Most plants like coffee among others become bushy and so leaves and some branches are cut off to avoid overcrowding and competition of food nutrients. This is called pruning.

During the dry season, farmers harvest their crops. The grains are dried under sunshine and later stored in granaries for future use. Proper storage of dried food helps to control pests and also reduces the shortage of food especially during drought.
